OBJECT: Official Communication from Spherical Wheel to Omnicaster

Dear Sirs

Our company Kunzle & Tasin, a leading manufacturer of equipment and systems for the flooring treatment business, exporting to over 60 countries and whose research and development efforts always aim to find new technical solutions, in 2011, started the production of Spherical Wheels casters with the purpose of increasing new business opportunities for the development of products and industrial solutions.

We would like to inform you that we have signed a long-term strategic agreement with the British company OMNITRACK (market leader in the production and sale of products for the movement solutions) for the worldwide distribution of our Spherical Wheel product line through OMNICASTER, a joint-venture Kunzle & Tasin and Omnitrack.

The new OMNICASTER henceforth will identify the products produced in the Kunzle & Tasin premises and distributed by this new joint-venture.

Customers will take advantage of a specialised partner that has a developed and international logistics platform, with an organized B2B and B2C website (www.omnicaster.com), with a catalogue available in 13 languages, and soon will benefit from the development of new products thanks to the new technologies introduced by our partner.

There are no changes for the Italian industrial customers who can continue to use the two existing distributors:
